

A history of BACP Workplace

As from 1st August 2009, The Association for Counselling at Work changed its name to BACP Workplace to reflect the changing nature of the workplace and the need for the division to better reflect and represent the wider interests of the workplace counselling and employee support community.

This section will be updated shortly, however, the following article by Shirley Cullup charts the formative evolution and development of this Division

click here