

HCPJ is the quarterly professional journal for counsellors and psychotherapists in health care.

Publisher

BACP, BACP House, 15 St John's Business Park, Lutterworth LE17 4HB
Tel 01455 883300 Fax 01455 550243
email hcpj.editorial@bacp.co.uk

Disclaimer

The views expressed in HCPJ are not necessarily those of FHCP or its members, or of BACP.

Subscriptions

The journal is sent free to FHCP members. For subscription queries telephone 01455 883300 or email membership@bacp.co.uk

Editor

Dr Penny Gray hcpj@pennygray.com

Associate Editors

Rachel Freeth, psychiatrist and counsellor
Peter Jenkins, Senior Lecturer in Counselling Studies, Salford University
Ewan Davidson, primary care counsellor and healthcare counselling tutor
Sarah Hovington, primary care counsellor and FHCP Executive Member

Design Fran Shall

Production Jamie McCansh,
Creative by Design, Paisley, Scotland

Printer Page Bros

Cover image Shutterstock

Advertising

For rates contact Jeannette Hughes tel 01455 883314
jeannette.hughes@bacp.co.uk

Copyright

Apart from fair dealing for the purposes of research or private study, or criticism or review, as permitted under the UK Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988, no part of this publication may be reproduced, stored or transmitted in any form or by any means without the prior permission in writing of the publisher, or in accordance with the terms of licences issued by the Copyright Clearance Centre (CCC), the Copyright Licensing Agency (CLA), and other organisations authorised by the publisher to administer reprographic reproduction rights. Individual and organisational members of BACP only may make photocopies for teaching purposes free of charge provided such copies are not resold.

© British Association for Counselling and Psychotherapy

ISSN 1475-0724

Contents

1 Editorial

2 News

3 BACP Healthcare update

4 Why we need to address medically unexplained symptoms

Addressing medically unexplained symptoms has huge potential to reduce the burden of illness and the cost of health services, writes Tim Webb

9 Reattribution: does it work?

Psychological reattribution of medically unexplained symptoms by GPs has shown limited success, but is that because of the way it's delivered, asks Richard Morriss

13 Miracles of mindbody medicine

A small but growing number of healthcare professionals believe that chronic pain is often a psychophysical phenomenon that can respond to psychological treatment. Alan Gordon and colleagues report

20 Teaching trainee doctors about medically unexplained symptoms

GPs often receive next to no training in dealing with patients with medically unexplained symptoms, writes Marta Buszewicz

18 Exploring the meaning of medically unexplained symptoms

Medically unexplained symptoms may represent an attempt to heal from unacknowledged, deeply unpleasant emotions, according to the findings of a small-scale study by Jean Penman

25 Securing funding for primary care psychological therapy

In 2007, Jane McChrystal decided to take action to address her clients' requests for further counselling sessions in the practice where she worked

27 Reviews

32 Commissioning in a fast-changing world

HCPJ talks to practitioner-turned mental healthcare commissioner Helen Hardy

35 Research matters

36 Primary cares

37 On the receiving end

Counselling helped save my marriage and my sanity, writes Olive Frost

38 Reflections on IAPT and race equality

The Improving Access to Psychological Therapies Programme (IAPT) is unlikely to deliver race equality as it stands, says Ross O'Brien

41 Forthcoming events