

HCPJ is the quarterly professional journal for counsellors and psychotherapists in health care.

Publisher

BACP, BACP House, 15 St John's Business Park, Lutterworth LE17 4HB
Tel 01455 883300 Fax 01455 550243
email hcpj.editorial@bacp.co.uk

Disclaimer

The views expressed in HCPJ are not necessarily those of BACP Healthcare or its members, or of BACP.

Subscriptions

The journal is sent free to BACP Healthcare members. For subscription queries telephone 01455 883300 or email membership@bacp.co.uk

Editor

Dr Penny Gray hcpj@pennygray.com

Associate Editors

Rachel Freeth, psychiatrist and counsellor
Peter Jenkins, Senior Lecturer in Counselling Studies, Salford University
Ewan Davidson, primary care counsellor and healthcare counselling tutor
Sarah Hovington, primary care counsellor and BACP Healthcare Executive Member

Design Fran Shall

Production Jamie McCansh,
Creative by Design, Paisley, Scotland

Printer Page Bros

Cover image Shutterstock

Advertising

For rates contact Jeannette Hughes tel 01455 883314
jeannette.hughes@bacp.co.uk

Copyright

Apart from fair dealing for the purposes of research or private study, or criticism or review, as permitted under the UK Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988, no part of this publication may be reproduced, stored or transmitted in any form or by any means without the prior permission in writing of the publisher, or in accordance with the terms of licences issued by the Copyright Clearance Centre (CCC), the Copyright Licensing Agency (CLA), and other organisations authorised by the publisher to administer reprographic reproduction rights. Individual and organisational members of BACP only may make photocopies for teaching purposes free of charge provided such copies are not resold.

© British Association for Counselling and Psychotherapy

ISSN 1475-0724

British Association for Counselling & Psychotherapy

Contents

1 Editorial

2 Early psychosocial interventions in dementia

Evidence is growing of the benefits of psychosocial interventions early in dementia. Now we need to translate this into practice, writes Esme Moniz-Cook

3 News

4 Why counsel people with dementia?

Clients with dementia share the same difficult issues as others who come for therapy, writes Danuta Lipinska

8 Counselling the relatives of people with dementia

One-third of dementia caregivers fail to seek help, despite sometimes extreme difficulties. Yet a number of therapeutic interventions can be helpful for carers, writes Pamela Griffiths

12 A psychodynamic perspective on dementia care

Understanding and support for the difficult emotions that accompany dementia can help to reduce the burden of distress and improve care, writes Paul Terry

16 CBT approaches in older adults: what the research tells us

Cognitive behaviour therapy may be particularly well suited for those with early stage dementia and their carers, writes Ken Laidlaw

22 Cognitive stimulation therapy for dementia

Cognitive stimulation therapy for dementia has beneficial effects on both cognitive function and quality of life, say Elisa Aguirre and Martin Orrell

26 Training nurses to deliver post-diagnostic dementia support

Counselling skills training can make a big difference to nurses' ability to address difficult issues following a dementia diagnosis, according to research by Dot Weaks and colleagues

32 Communication and personhood in advanced dementia

A system of intensive interaction that focuses on the nonverbal communication capacities of people with advanced dementia appears to have great potential for supporting communication with those who care for them, according to Maggie Ellis and Arlene Astell

36 Research matters

writes Sara Perren

38 Primary cares

39 On the receiving end

Finding the right therapist for me took years, writes Lisa Purvis

40 Reviews

44 BACP Healthcare update

45 Forthcoming events