

Invitation to join my research study

I am conducting a poetic inquiry study that seeks to gain a deep sense and understanding of how the transition from student counsellor to professional practitioner shapes values.

Why values? We all have them. They are unique to us. They guide our choices and light our way. How do they evolve in the face of life's change and challenges?

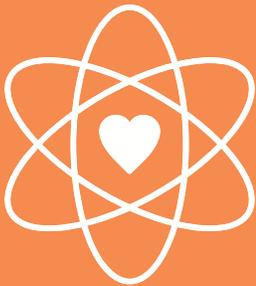

Why poetic inquiry? It is a fun and creative process designed to engage readers in an emotive, embodied and accessible interaction with participant stories

Participation involves

Sharing the story of your values
NB you will not be expected to write any poetry!

One hour of your time

In-person or online

Who can take part?

Qualified counsellors

Graduated between 6 months and 5 years ago

Based in South West England

Interested?

I would love to hear from you...
