

What role does a person-centred counsellor's imagination play in the therapeutic process?

This research aims to explore the experiences of person-centred counsellors to understand the relationship between imagination and the core conditions of person-centred counselling.

Participation Criteria

- Counsellors who identify as part of the tribe of person-centred counsellors and work mainly from the person-centred modality.
- 3+ years of practise and/or 450+ hours post training
- Practise privately or for an organisation who will approve their participation.
- Member of the BACP
- Reside in the UK.

What will participation involve?

I am looking for participants who are willing to take part in an online interview of 1 hour.

How do I take part or enquire for further information?

If you are interested in taking part and/or require further information, please contact Laura Sayles (2324275@chester.ac.uk)
