

BACP Online event: Keeping clients at the centre

| Saturday 16 May 2020 |   |
|----------------------|---|
| 9.30am - 9.45am      | Welcome and introduction to the day with Clare Symons - BACP Head of Research   |
| 9.45am - 10.30am     | Keynote presentation What can therapists learn from a randomised controlled trial? The case of the IMPACT studyNick Midgley                           |
| 10.30am - 10.45am    | Studio discussion with guest, Nick Midgley  |
| 10.45am - 11.05am    | The effectiveness of counselling in private practiceDuncan McCaig   |
| 11.05am - 11.25am    | Therapist perspectives on the use of congruence with children in school-based counsellingKrystal Scott  |
| 11.25am - 11.45am    | Studio: discussion with Krystal Scott   |
| 11.45am - 12.05pm    | Black minds matter; What is the impact of colour blindness in therapy on black african & afro-caribbean clients? A heuristic studyKimberly-Anne Evans |
| 12.05pm - 12.25pm    | m The bodily experience of those bereaved through the Grenfell Tower fire: an interpretative phenomenological analysisKate Hoyland                    |
| 12.25pm - 12.45pm    | Studio discussion with Kimberly-Anne Evans  |
| 12.45pm - 1.45pm     | Break in transmission   |
| 1.45pm - 2.05pm      | Doing practitioner research: A case study in the use of subjectivity and the self as a research instrument in theory buildingJohn Hills               |
| 2.05pm - 2.25pm      | Exploring suicide potential and the actualising tendency: A qualitative study of suicide notesAmanda McGarry  |
| 2.25pm - 2.45pm      | The effectiveness of Humanistic-Experiential Psychotherapies: A meta-analysis updateRobert Elliott  |
| 2.45pm - 3.05pm      | Studio discussion with Robert Elliott   |
| 3.05pm - 3.45pm      | What do we know about doing therapy online?Naomi Moller & Andreas Vossler   |
| 3.45pm - 4.05pm      | Studio discussion   |